“Drained in 20 min”: the hacker in front of Binance's open vault

> Rule: the title completes the thumbnail and never repeats its text. The thumbnail says “drained in 20 min”; the title says who and how much.

Titles

1. How North Korea Stole $6.3 Billion From Binance (recommended)
2. The Biggest Crypto Heist in History
3. Backup: “The FBI Knows Who Robbed Binance”

> Avoid “hackers caught / arrested”: they were identified (TraderTraitor, per TRM Labs and the FBI), not arrested.

Description

October 29, 2026. In twenty minutes, hackers drain the wallets of Binance, the world's largest crypto exchange: $6.3 billion disappears. Fifty authorizations. A single way in: one engineer's laptop.

How did the best-guarded fortress in crypto fall? Who was behind the screen? And why does this story concern you, even if you've never bought a single bitcoin?

A true story, told like a thriller.
